Lady Judith Montefiore has been called the First Lady of Anglo-Jewry. Certainly, she was one of the most remarkable women, Jewish or otherwise, of the 19th century. She was a musician, a linguist, a social reformer, both an intrepid traveller and brilliant travel writer, an unofficial diplomat and a benefactor of good causes in numerous countries on several different continents. She was also, of course, both the wife of the most famous Jew of the 19th century, Sir Moses Montefiore, and always his equal in their many ventures.

NEXT MEETING : 3.30pm Tuesday 9th May
‘My Career In Ruins’ with guest speaker David Tomback
