Approximately 125000 boys signed up to fight in World War 1, many of them members of the Jewish community.

Who were these boy soldiers and what made them sign up? Whilst many of them gave their lives for their country, many were awarded Military honours and went on to live fulfilling lives.

This talk explains the circumstances which lead them to sign up and the lengths which many distraught parents went to try and bring them home again – with varying results.

NEXT MEETING : 3.30pm Tuesday 14th November

‘Boots the Chemist, an iconic presence on the High Street and beyond’
